

Do not allow the FCC to to implement the new proposal that would lessen our Indiana Telephone Privacy law. Since this law was enacted we have not been bothered at all by unsolicited telemarketers. By overriding our Indiana law, you will open the phonelines again and allow us to be burdened by the scam artists known as telemarketers. Our current law works fine and should not be tampered with! We used to get at least 10-15 calls per day, now we don't get 1 a week! Perhaps you should tell other states how well our law works and tell them to implement the same thing, instead of creating a nationwide law that won't work nearly as well!
